

Contents

Foreword

List of Contributors

Explanatory Notes

Introduction	World History and Suzerainty OKAMOTO Takashi	1
Part I
Chapter 1	The Appearance of Vassal States and “Suzerainty” in the Ottoman Empire: The Case of Wallachia and Moldavia MAYUZUMI Akitsu	21
Chapter 2	Between Sovereignty and Suzerainty: History of the Ottoman Privileged Provinces FUJINAMI Nobuyoshi	41
Part II
Chapter 3	Suzerainty, International Law, and Translation: From the Eastern Question to the Korean Question OKAMOTO Takashi	73
Chapter 4	Russia’s Eastward Approach to East Asia: The Qing, Japan, and Boundary Issues with Russia YAMAZOE Hiroshi	95
Part III
Chapter 5	From Diplomacy to Gaikō : Meiji Japan and Its Perceptions of “Diplomacy” MORITA Yoshihiko	119
Chapter 6	Japanese Diplomacy and the Sino-Korean Suzerain-Vassal Relationship before and after the First Sino-Japanese War KOKETSU Satoko	151
Part IV
Chapter 7	Somewhere between “Independence” and “Autonomy”: Translating Concepts in Modern Mongolian TACHIBANA Makoto	177

Chapter 8	The Political Status of Tibet and the Simla Conference (1913–14): Translated Concepts in Modern Tibet KOBAYASHI Ryōsuke	199
Part V
Chapter 9	Internalizing “Territory”: How the “Territory” Concept Became Part of China’s Contemporary Conceptual Apparatus OKAMOTO Takashi	219
Chapter 10	The Ecumenical Patriarchate in the Age of Ottoman Suzerainty FUJINAMI Nobuyoshi	241
Bibliography		271
Index		309